TALMADGE RUNS BEHIND RUSSELL, ROOSEVELT AIDE

Georgia Assured in F.D.R.'s Column in November as Result of Ballot

GOVERNOR BACKER, TOO

Last "Rebellion" in South Shattered in State

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 10.—(UP) A New Deal tidal wave today swept the Georgia Democratic primary, crushing opposition and nominating Senator Richard B. Russell Jr., over Governor Eugene Talmadge for the U. S. senate. Talmadge and his entire ticket went down to defeat in the primary. The electorate voted better than 2 to 1 against the critics of the New Deal.

Senator Russell had a popular vote of 162,843 from returns gathered in the state's 159 counties. While counties were incomplete Russell had 342 unit votes.

Russell Far In Lead
Talmadge polled 87,000 votes in the same counties. His county unit vote totaled 72. Under Georgia's primary rules 206 of the counties 410 votes are necessary for nomination.

The landslide for the Roosevelt administration supporters also nominated E. D. Rivers, speaker of the House of Representatives, as Georgia's next governor—nomination being tantamount to election. Rivers, who ran on a ticket pledging support to President Roosevelt and his New Deal program, was running nearly 2 to 1 ahead of his nearest opponent, Charles D. Redwine, president of the senate and a Talmadgeite. The vote from 159 counties, incomplete, was Rivers 131,817 and Redwine 68,891. Judge Blanton Fortson, also New Deal supporter was a poor

SENATOR RUSSELL

VILLAGE EXCITED BY HUGE THRONG SALUTING NATIVE

MT. STERLING, Sept. 10.—(UP) Gaily decked for the occasion, this Madison county town today played the role of host to one of the most important political gatherings in its history.

Mt. Sterling's favorite son — John W. Bricker, Republican candidate for governor — and former U. S. Senator Henry J. Allen of Kansas were guests of honor at a state-wide rally of Republican candidates in the November election.

In a woods at the northern edge of town, the rally opened before noon with a barbecue dinner. Nine hundred pounds of buffalo meat and 4100 pounds of beef were sliced along with 2000 loaves of bread.

Bricker was to give the main speech later in the day.

Special trains brought large G. O. P. delegations from several cities. Hundreds more came by automobile.

Bands and marching clubs in uniform paraded through the flag decorated streets. Huge signs bore the legend, "Home of John W. Bricker, candidate for governor."

At the edge of the business district, the home of Mrs. Laura Bricker, mother of the candidate for governor, was one of the busiest places in a busy town.

"I never had my picture taken so many times in my life," Mrs. Bricker said as she posed for photographers.

Five Pledges Recited by Attorney General

MT. STERLING, Sept. 10.—(UP) With Attorney General John W. Bricker, candidate for governor, and former Senator Henry J. Allen of Kansas as their principal speakers, Ohio Republicans formally opened their fall political campaign today in this Madison county town, boyhood home of Bricker.

Bricker, severely criticizing the administration of his Democratic opponent, Gov. Martin L. Davey, pledged himself to "return honest and good government in Ohio."

1. Reduction in the cost of government and demobilization of "the army of political hangers-on."
2. An honest state budget without fictitious claims of economy.
3. A constructive program of caring for state wards.
4. Proper and economical maintenance of the state highways and proper policing.
5. Maintenance of an adequate public school system.

The attorney general, commenting on Gov. Davey's advocacy of repeal of the sales tax on food for home consumption pointed out that he (Bricker) had stated in a talk two years ago that he did

SOVIET FORCES SET MARK FOR HAULING ARMY

MOSCOW, Sept. 10.—(UP)—The Red army air corps today set a world record for the unit transport of men and munitions by airplane when by parachutes it dropped 1,200 soldiers, 150 machine-guns and 18 cannon in the rear of the "enemy" during maneuvers in the Volga region.

The men and guns were dropped in a strategic position behind the "enemy" troops in eight minutes, an announcement said. Presumably this force, quickly appearing from the skies, would be able to make a highly-effective surprise attack on the "enemy."

Defenses against the sudden foray included anti-tank traps, masked trenches, barbed-wire entanglements and machine-gun nests.

While the "blues" and "reds" fought it out their general staffs remained under ground in "electrical caverns."

"Blues" scouted the "red" defenses, calvary and tanks forcing the "enemy" back to a new line along the Volga.

DRUM CORPS AND CROWD TO VISIT LEGION FESTIVAL

The American Legion drum corps and a delegation will go to New Holland Thursday evening to take part in Circleville night at the fall festival being sponsored by Arch Post, 477.

The New Holland carnival, situated on N. Main street in the village, opened Wednesday evening with Washington C. H. as the honored city. A large delegation from the Fayette county city attended the carnival with a clown band.

Friday night has been awarded to Chillicothe.

Street dances are held nightly on a platform erected near the village square.

Hunt For Detroit Baby Spreads to Ohio Area

DETROIT, Sept. 10.—(UP)—A 400-mile area bordering the Michigan-Ohio lines today was the center of an exhaustive search for 20-month-old Harry Browne, believed to have been kidnaped from his carriage in a Detroit park last Saturday.

Search for the missing boy broadened yesterday with a photographic identification by Arlie Braman, a gas station attendant north of Milan.

According to Deputy Chief William Collins, of the Detroit detective bureau, Braman identified pictures of the Browne child as the baby he had seen in an automobile which stopped at his station at the junction of US 112 and US 23 Wednesday morning.

The baby, he was reported to have told officers, wore only a diaper. The man who drove the Pontiac coach asked the route to Toledo, Ohio.

Braman's identification and other information received throughout the territory lying just above and below the Michigan-Ohio line gave police their first real clue to the missing child's whereabouts. Over this territory squadrons of officers were sent with orders to "search all cars," detailed descriptions were broadcast by police radio.

Another man, Frank Neff, Milan milkman, offered police a substantiation of Braman's identification. He said a man and a child resembling the Browne boy stopped by his delivery car. Neff quoted the driver as saying, "I have a kidnaped baby here. Do you want him?"

The milkman explained to police that he had not heard of the Detroit kidnaping before the encounter. He described the man as about 30 or 35 years of age, with dark curly hair and wearing a dark brown suit.

IL DUCE SEIZES RINGLEADERS OF COMMUNIST BAND

ROME, Sept. 10.—(UP)—The government was said today to have discovered and smashed a large communist organization with headquarters in Rome and branches in Leghorn, Grosseto and other Tuscan towns.

Some of the communist ringleaders were understood to have held high official posts in the Fascist party. All were reported to have been arrested and confined in the Regina Coeli jail in Rome.

The discovery was made by the Ovra—voluntary organization for the repression of anti-Fascist movements—which raided the Communist headquarters here.

Communist activities were betrayed by a young bricklayer who was arrested because he wore a red tie. Eventually he confessed he was a member of a Communist group and gave information about its headquarters.

ANARCHISTS AND LOYALISTS FIGHT OVER HOSTAGES

Asturian Miners Reach City to Help Defense; Rebel Planes Kill Eight

CAPTIVES PLACED ON SHIP

Attacking Troops Cut Off Escape for Refugees

By HAROLD EITLINGER

WITH THE SPANISH REBELS OUTSIDE SAN SEBASTIAN, Sept. 10.—(UP)—Fires blamed on anarchists broke out simultaneously in five places in Bilbao late today as rebels continued their attack on this sector.

The anarchists meanwhile came near the breaking point with their allies, the Basque Nationalists, both defenders of San Sebastian, when the anarchists demanded that hostages be executed in reprisal for rebel bombings.

Anger of the anarchists mounted when Civil Governor Antonio Ortega announced that eight persons had been killed when rebel planes bombed San Sebastian, Pasajes, Hernaniz and La Sarta.

They rushed for the casbah where the hostages are held. Nationalist guards prevented them from killing any of the prisoners.

A column of Asturian miners arrived in the city late today from Gijon and took their places behind the barricades.

Hostages Transferred

Meanwhile, loyalists transferred their rebel hostages to boats in the harbor where they intend to hold them as pawns when and if the insurgents capture the city.

General Emilio Mola, rebel commander, decided today to allow the populations of Irun and Fuenterrabia, sacked several days ago, to return to their burned homes tomorrow and attempt to salvage their belongings.

Government troops bombarded Oviedo late today with incendiary shells striking several buildings along the main street.

There seemed no way out but defense of San Sebastian. All attempts at negotiation have failed so far and no new effort is anticipated.

The rebels, continuing their attack to clean out the country around San Sebastian and then take the city at whose gates their machine guns are placed, swept at dawn up Mt. Jaizubel and drove out the loyalists who had remained there. It was a small operation but an important one. The hill dominates both San Sebastian and Pasajes to the west and Irun to the east. It is the highest point in the neighborhood and from its heavily wooded slopes the loyalists might have made a long defense.

Railroad Cut Off

West of San Sebastian the rebels made an advance of even more moment. During the night Carlist volunteers advanced, and this morning they cut the railroad that runs westward from San Sebastian to Bilbao. This cut off the last land avenue of escape for refugees.

the sales tax problem from its inception in Ohio, and I am more fully convinced than ever that by strict economy and the elimination of waste in the state administration, the collection of local taxes and a proper financial policy, that the school program can be maintained and this sales tax on food be eliminated," Bricker said.

He said he is "opposed to any increase in the gasoline tax, as advocated by Governor Davey," to replace revenue that will be lost by repeal of the food sales tax."

Bricker said opinions from his office had consistently interpreted the tax law "in the interest of the taxpayer."

Greedy Action Cited in U.S. 8th. "These opinions were made necessary by the attempt of the tax commission to extend the provisions of the sales tax law beyond that which was intended by the legislature," he explained. "Such greedy tax collecting and tax-spendy attitude has characterized this whole administration."

He cited that the "original sales tax law was enacted through the co-operation of Governor Davey," that it became effective shortly after Gov. Davey took office, and that he extended its provisions shortly after it became operative.

"Governor Davey caused the law to be re-enacted and extended after its original expiration date," he added. "He criticized his primary opponent for objecting to the law."

"His opponent was Congressman Stephen M. Young, of Cleveland. In that primary Young advocated repeal of the sales tax on food and clothing."

"For taking such a position, Governor Davey called Young a demagogue, and further said: 'There is no way to explain the mind of a demagogue except that he is for anything or against anything that will get him some votes."

Following the primary, the attorney general said, the governor "for some reason had a change of mind and messaged the legislature proposing repeal of the food tax."

"It never came to a vote, Governor Davey's campaign claims to the contrary," he said, referring to the governor's charges that Republicans blocked passage of his proposed repealer.

Denouncing the present administration's highway department because "the entire highway program of road repair and construction, through inefficiency and political emphasis, has bogged down and is almost a year behind," Bricker promised a "drastic and early reorganization" of this branch of government.

He promised to appoint a committee of outstanding citizens "to investigate the feasibility of the creation of a highway commission of long terms so there can be a continuing program of highway construction" and a co-ordinated program in co-operation with the federal government, counties and townships.

Pointing out that Friday the Democrats will hold their state convention at Columbus, Bricker said, "but for reasons becoming more and more obvious, many loyal Democrats who love their state and their party will not be there."

"They resent and refuse to stand for such offenses as the relief scandals; the mess in the liquor department; the chiseling and black-jacking of contractors and supply men; the notorious debauch of the civil service; the incriminating charges in the handling of liquor permits; the profiteering use of taxpayers' money for personal political advertising and the vulgar and arrogant display of egotism in connection with it all."

Bricker also charged that Democratic Chairman Francis Poulson "boasts of a fund of $250,000 to start this campaign for Governor Davey's re-election" and that this money comes from "contractors doing business with the state, liquor dealers, agents and permit-holders who 'put it on the line,' and civil service employees who are assessed part of their salaries in violation of law."

The attorney general also attacked the governor's methods of arriving at "economy claims," and his budget, which was submitted to the legislature.

"There is no element of saving in his budget claims. The budget sent to the legislature was $15,000,000 higher than that of his predecessor, Governor George White, and even after the governor's vetoes was $5,500,000 higher than the White budget."

"It was a simple plan to confuse the citizens of Ohio, and there was no element of saving in the entire procedure."

The attorney general charged that the governor failed to exercise any executive leadership over the legislature due to a lack of knowledge of state government, disregard of constitutional requirements, and an unwillingness to learn or take advice." Gov. Davey's quarrel with the federal government over the administration of relief in Ohio was described by the candidate as "that unsavory episode," and he pointed out that the administration of relief was taken away from Governor Davey when "it was discovered that the governor was building up a personal political machine at the expense of those needing relief."

third. The unit vote stood Rivers 358, Redwine 18; Fortson 10.

The United Press tabulation showed that less than 500 of the state's 1785 precincts were missing in the senatorial tabulation and but 550 were still unaccounted for in the gubernatorial count.

The victory of the New Deal was conclusive and broke the last anti-Roosevelt rebellion in the deep south. Both Russell and Rivers used "Roosevelt and Russell" and "Roosevelt and Rivers" as their campaign slogans.

Threat Eliminated

The result of the primary thus assures Georgia's electoral votes for President Roosevelt in the November elections, the threat of Talmadge having been definitely eliminated.

CORN DECLINES AS TRADE BOARD FAILS TO MOVE

Chicago Directors Refuse
to Bar Argentina Crop
From Futures

OFF SLIGHTLY LOCALLY

Wheat, Oats and Rye Climb
as Liverpool Jumps

Several factors combined today to drop the corn price more than two cents a bushel on the Chicago market. The slash was reflected slightly on the Circleville market where one elevator quoted yellow corn at $1.02 and white corn at $1.13, each down one cent.

Wheat remained the same in Circleville, $1.07.

One factor that forced the drop was announcement by directors of the Chicago Board of Trade that they had refused a petition to exclude Argentina corn from being acceptable on future delivery contracts in Chicago. The directors said they had no power in the matter, all grain standards being fixed by the Federal government.

Reports that Ohio points were offering corn to the East at 5 cents under a Chicago party did much also to drag corn prices lower, despite talk current that demand for vessel-space to move corn from Argentina to the United States has fallen off.

Offer Unsettled

Corn closed unsettled at the same as yesterday's finished to 1 1/2 cents down, in Chicago September $1.10 1/2 @ $1.10 1/2, December 94 1/2 @ 94 1/2, May 90 1/2 @ 90 1/2; wheat 1/4 @ 1/4 down, September $1.11 1/2 @ $1.11 1/2, December $1.00 @ $1.10 1/2, May $1.09 @ $1.09 1/2; oats also 1/4 @ 1/4 off, December 42 1/2, and rye varying from 1/4 decline to 1/4 advance, December 80 1/2. The outcome for provisions was unchanged to 15 cents decline.

Weakness of corn prices manifested itself most acutely in September contracts, which from an early top of $1.12, tumbled at one stage to $1.09 1/2. December and May corn likewise declined, though to a much less extent and the market at the last displayed considerable rallying power, with speculative buying larger on the set-back.

Showery conditions over the corn belt were regarded by traders as bearish, chiefly because of favoring growth of pastures and of late forage crops. Tending further to give an advantage to the selling side of the corn market was a disposition that numerous potential buyers evinced to await the United States Government crop report, due after tomorrow's close. Meanwhile, primary receipts of corn were decidedly small.

In the face of corn weakness, wheat, oats, and rye mostly made but transient moderate upturns in response to wheat price bulges at Liverpool and a jump in sterling exchange to a new high point for the year.

Winning estimated Canadian wheat export sales today as totaling 1,500,000 bushels. On the other hand, rural marketings of Canadian wheat were tremendous, 2,886,000 bushels. Domestic primary receipts of wheat amounted to but 335,000 bushels, against 1,740,000 a year ago.

NUTS AND DOLTS

"Boy! Will I Be a Hit"

Much has been said about the day-dreaming driver. But what of the wool-gathering walker? Blissfully, with his mind in the clouds, he steps out into the No Man's Land between intersections. To him, because he sees no danger, there is no danger. But he's due for a rude awakening from love's sweet dream.

Figures compiled by statisticians show that 4,500 pedestrians met death while crossing between intersections last year. Nearly 75,000 others were injured. This phase of jay-walking alone accounted for more than 25 per cent of all pedestrian deaths and injuries in 1935.

If you would live out your allotted span, cross at intersections only, and wait for the signal.

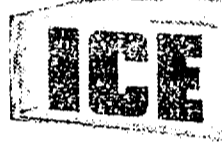

WORLD DEATHS 408 IN RABIES

GENEVA (UP)—Human and animal bites, inflicted on 118,062 persons, caused 408 deaths by rabies in 1935, a League of Nations study reveals.

The jaws of 339 dogs, 46 jackals, 16 wolves and two cats were mainly responsible, the investigation shows. Of 1,501 human bites, one death was recorded at Kasauli, India. Another death was caused by a deep bite in the arm by a cow. Several hyena and leopard bites are also noted. Diligent search through the report, however, fails to reveal any record of a man biting a dog.

Some 1,244 cases were reported in New York and 443 cases in Paris, with no deaths. Europeans and non-Europeans, according to the statistics, were victims of rabies to an almost equal extent, but deaths among non-Europeans were about double those among Europeans.

FLAGS TO MEET IN FAR PACIFIC

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 13.—(UP)—A United States coast guard cutter and a British war vessel will appear simultaneously off disputed land, claimed by the United States and England, soon, according to advice received here from Honolulu.

The cutter Itasca, laden with supplies necessary for the colonization of Jarvis, Baker and Howland Islands, is already en route from Honolulu for the three points. It has on board Ray A. Kleindienst, administrative officer in the division of territories and insular possessions of the United States Department of the Interior, and also R. B. Black, field representative for the same department, and W. T. Miller of the Department of Commerce.

The trip of the Itasca is for the permanent settlement of the three islands that were claimed by the United States long before the annexation of Hawaii, but which were recently referred to by a British official as belonging to that country. In fact, British firms have in past years granted guano concessions on them.

It now is the intention of the United States to colonize them as possible bases for aviation service between the United States, New Zealand and possibly Australia.

Bottom After Crash

BOSTON, Sept. 10.—(UP)—Federal and state authorities began investigations today, with an eye to lodging criminal charges, of the collision off Boston harbor last night of two coastal steamers carrying more than 600 persons.

The 38-year-old excursion steamer Romance sank in 66 feet of water 20 minutes after the steel bow of the 4,980-ton S. S. New York rammed her amidship in a fog so dense that trans-Atlantic liners had anchored all day rather than attempt navigation of the harbor.

Twelve persons were injured but no life was lost.

None was hurt seriously.

Bulkheads Held

The collision tore a great hole in the New York's bow but her bulkheads held and she returned to Boston, from which she had been bound for New York with 300 passengers and a crew of 125, under her own power.

The Romance, property of the Bay State Steamship company, was inward bound with 159 passengers from Providence and the New York of the Eastern Steamship lines, was bound for New York, when the collision occurred. On the Romance, a 1,240-ton vessel, most passengers were waiting in the saloon for the docking. Passengers on both the Romance and the New York were knocked flat.

So far did the New York's bow penetrate the Romance that she ships hung locked together, a fortuity which probably was the salvation of the Romance's passengers and crew of 53.

While both ships still trembled with their impact, seamen of the Romance fastened life preservers upon the passengers and those of the New York dropped ladders down the 10 feet from her upper deck to that of the smaller boat. Most of the Romance's passengers escaped to the New York that way but they crowded to the side so hysterically that the rail collapsed from their weight.

Then, with the Romance listing, slipping away from the New York, the last of her passengers and crew were removed to life boats.

Less than five minutes after Capt. Adelbert C. Wickens of Boston abandoned the Romance, her bow lifted, she rolled slowly to port, and dived out of sight.

Negligence Cited

Captain Wickens had left a meeting of U. S. steamboat inspectors yesterday morning, at which he was charged with negligence and recklessness in handling his ship, to take her out on her last cruise. The hearing was adjourned at his request.

REDS OBTAIN ADDITIONAL ATHLETES FROM MINORS

CINCINNATI, Sept. 10.—(UP)—The Cincinnati Reds today continued to gain in minor league stars for a late season trial.

Oregon Nature Note

BEND, Ore.—(UP)—Something may be radically wrong with Oregon's animals. A few days after a forest ranger reported a deer giving full chase to a full-grown bobcat. Morgan Williamson, a service station attendant, vouched for a California tourist's story that a cougar had attacked his automobile on a mountain highway.

Crash Survivor's Sad Memento

Her companion, John A. Powers, University of Miami law student, killed in the crash, was wearing the ring—which was found in the wreckage by Harry Thomas, Jr., left. Eleven persons were killed.

Milwaukee defeated Kansas City 4 to 1, at Milwaukee yesterday behind the six-hit pitching of Hamlin. The Association champions touched Wyatt and Moore for eight blows, scoring three runs in the eighth inning.

Indianapolis bunched nine hits to beat St. Paul, 8 to 1, at St. Paul. Indianapolis routed Her-ring in the eighth with a four-run spurt that featured a triple by Eckhardt and a home run by Riddle.

The same teams will play again today.

WILSON JOINS BROOKLYN

DALLAS, Texas, Sept. 10.—(UP)—Bobby Wilson, backfield star with Southern Methodist last year, planned to leave here today to join the Brooklyn team of the National Football league.

BY UNITED PRESS
The Buffalo Bisons and the Baltimore Orioles were off to a head start today in the International league playoffs for the governor's cup.

The 1936 pennant winning Bisons blanked the Newark Bears, third-place finishers, 6 to 0, in the opening game of the cup playoffs at Buffalo last night.

The Orioles opened their four-out-of-seven series with a 4-2 victory over the Rochester Red Wings in 10 innings.

Winners of the two preliminary series meet in a final best four-out-of-seven series for the cup and the honor of engaging the victor of the American association playoffs in the "junior world series."

THEATRES

AT THE CLIFTONA

What makes the wheels go round behind the scenes in Hollywood forms the background of "Hollywood Boulevard," a Paramount picture that plays at the Cliftona theatre tonight.

It is a story of one of the most famous thoroughfares in the world and the celebrities who people it. Taking for the central character, an egotistic star of another day who attempts a comeback through the writing of his love memoirs for a fan magazine, Paramount has correlated about thirty former screen personalities of the silent days to color a story studded with drama and thrills.

In unfolding the story of John Blakeford, fallen star, the audience is taken to the famous night spots of Hollywood and shown the stars at play. Backstage at the studios, with more celebrities of the present and past at work is also shown, as are the bathing beauties at Balboa. There is also a glimpse of the homes of the stars and various colorful scenes on and about Hollywood Boulevard, the street.

John Halliday, Marsha Hunt, Robert Cummings and an excellent cast do well by the exciting story, but the audience seemed especially glad to see such old timers as Francis X. Bushman, Maurice Costello, Charles Ray, Betty Compson, Mae Marsh, Bill Desmond, Pat O'Malley, Frank Mower and others of a day now gone, who are still well remembered.

AT THE GRAND

McWade's father was one of the foremost stage actors of his day, and McWade's early theatrical experience was gathered as a member of his father's company.

BRUTALITY

KINGS in exile have long been mournfully romantic figures. Think, for instance, of all the swell romances which have been woven about Bonnie Prince Charlie, whom Jacobites called a King.
Possibly some of the romance may slop
over to include heirs of Kings, like the Count of Cavadonga, eldest son of the ex-
King Alfonso of Spain, who has just paid $2 in a New York traffic court for driving on the wrong side of the street.

To make it worse from any angle, the King's son's wallet was lifted, just like those of mere commoners lucky enough in these days to have anything at all in the wallets.

Great moments in history grow in every record. But imagine, if you can, a traffic cop, Tremendous Figure as he is, saying to Royalty (out of the side of his mouth)
"And where do you think YOU are going?"
in the happy manner of his kind. First-borns of Spanish Kings, with all the grandeur attached to that ancient honor, should not be subjected to such annoyance, even though temporarily or permanently out of a job.

Such humiliation is comparable to that of Gen. Jacob E. Coxey, back in 1894, who had a nation in jitters as he marched to Washington his army of unemployed, only to be ordered off the Capitol grass. There ought to be a law against anti-climax.

RAINS A GOOD OMEN

PERIODS of high temperatures and of droughts usually go together, the United States weather bureau has observed.
It also is frank enough to say it doesn't know whether the drought causes the high temperatures or the high temperatures the drought. In order that rain may fall the moisture-laden air must cool. Apparently it does not cool so rapidly when there are protracted high temperatures. So a drought tends to perpetuate itself until some factor, still unknown, breaks it up.

The break-up usually comes with rains that get cooler weather started. Then the cooler weather makes it easier to rain,
and so conditions get back to normal.

If environment means anything, the latest Dionne infant should develop into a rugged individualist.

Time effects wondrous changes. Next February this insufferable Summer will be just a pleasant memory.

The cause of radicalism isn't always economic. Anything that makes you sore at the world will do it.

PAGES from the Diary of an Antiquated Reporter:

Up entertaining a grouch, a hangover from a restless night
due to sleep being greatly disturbed by cold and being too lazy to get up and prowl for blankets. Did down the coffee hurriedly and away to the growl
of racing gears in the rejuven-ated wagon, it being fresh from a lengthy garage operation. At the post found nothing and at the plant everything moving so smoothly had no opportunity to exercise feelings. So away to the Coffee Club, falling in with Paul Johnson and in pleasant conversation with him the peevish faded away. Did see Robert Anderson busy with his regular morning melon, breakfast food and eggs, envying him for his ability to eat breakfast, for those who do eat of a morning
seem to get much enjoyment thereby. There comes Nate Groban, head of the Retail Merchants Association, in for his morning java, happy and smiling as usual. Harry Steinhauser, always the early bird among businessmen, deep in thought before Joseph's W.
Crist and Grandson Bill helping a painter get under way
in decoration of their storefront,

the stencil work in silver drawing praise from the scrivener.

John Walters and Tom Renick busy supervising the establishment of Republican headquarters in the Crist building, Joe Adkins hurrying about early morning business, George Griffith on his way from the post and hurrying to his establishment that is doing record business, George Burch bringing word that Frank Lynch is doing well in the hospital, Joe Lynch already identified with the new owner of the Barrere & Nickerson hardware store.

Back to the office for a session with paper, ink and supply salesmen who brought proof of their recent forecasts of mounting prices and who told of further advances in the making. A pleasant chat with Wallace Crist on the trend of the times and then the plant and the day were thrown completely out of tune by a wrecked
motor on one of the most important machines in the company room. Parts not available in Circleville so hurried communication with Columbus
where machine shop after machine shop reported business so rushing could not guarantee immediate delivery. Good times must be back.

Met Ned Groom and from him
did receive an interesting booklet of political information. Did note particularly one chart that showed how direct taxes provided 66 8-10 of government income back. In 1928 and indirect taxes only 33 2-10. It was about that time that the politicians started "lightening" the tax burden. So today direct taxes provide 69 per cent of the income.
The men who believe they are not paying taxes because they have no real estate or tangible property, the so-called little fellows, is paying twice as much tax
today as he was eight years ago.
And he has just started paying.
In 1926 13 1-10 cents out of each dollar earned in the U. S.
went to meet government expense. That sum has mounted gradually through the years, under both Republican and Democratic administrations, until today we pay 31 cents out of each dollar. That means that if you earn $25 a week that the government gets $7.75 out of your paycheck, gets it through direct taxes or through the thousand and on invisible taxes on everything for which you spend money. Think that over if you need something to worry about.

Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

ROPER, SWANSON MAY QUIT
WASHINGTON—There is some doubt in the minds of one or two cabinet members as to whether their chief will keep them on after November—if he is re-elected.

Chief questionmark is in the mind of Daniel Calhoun Roper, Secretary of Commerce. He has indicated to subordinates that he sees the handwriting on the wall;
will make a polite exit.

Naval Secretary Claude Swanson, who has been in poor health, also may retire.
Attorney General Cummings can stay if he wants to—or he can go to the Philippines.
The President is fond of him, but would not be averse to a younger crusader in the Justice Department.

Hull, Morgenthau, Wallace, Ickes are fixtures. Jim Farley wants to come back, and the President wants him.

No one will be appointed until after election to fill the War Department vacancy left by Dern. Also there will be no ambassador immediately appointed to Russia. The President needs bait with which to entice contributions to Jim Farley's war chest.

After all, this is a campaign year.

BUSINESS BAROMETER

Here is a pretty accurate index of returning prosperity:

The Securities and Exchange Commission, which registers new stock and bond issues before they can be sold to the public, is probably the busiest agency in the Capital. Lights burn in its offices every night.

Up until a few months ago, most of the issues going through the SEC were refunding issues.

But now brand new issues are being floated—a sure sign that business is healthy.

The SEC is trying to handle the rush with its normal personnel, which may be impossible if there is a sudden spurt in registration before a quarterly dividend period.

WORRIES

What is really worrying Hull and Roosevelt about the Spanish civil war is the effect upon Latin America.

This is the one foreign field where closer cooperation with the United States is not political dynamite, and the President has been counting heavily on the forthcoming Pan American Conference to cement
his "Good Neighbor" policy.

But now war in Spain is a serious obstacle.

If war had come in any other country—
Austria, Poland, Germany, France—it would have been different. But it came in sleepy, siesta-loving Spain, the mother of most of Latin America.

Latin Americans are following the Spanish war avidly. And whichever way it goes,
political repercussions will result in South America. If the Radical Government wins out in Spain, there may be attempted radical revolutions in Chile, Peru and possibly Argentina.

If the Fascists win in Spain, there will be a tendency toward dictatorships in South America.

Love isn't Important

By LOUISE JERROLD

COPYRIGHT L. C. PAGE & CO., INC. RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

CHAPTER 44
UNCONSCIOUSLY, Gay shivered in spite of the furnace-like heat of the flat, as she re-read Christian Scott's proposal:
"My Dear Gay:
After long and earnest deliberation on my part for the welfare and happiness of both of us, I have decided to ask you to do me the honor of becoming my wife.

I realize the disparity in our ages, but trust that other considerations will offset that disadvantage. Besides, a man is only as old as he feels, so the saying goes, and I am in prime mental and physical condition.
During some delightful evenings in your company, I have satisfied myself that we have many tastes in common—books,
friends, travel.

Business and family duties
have given me little leisure before, but as you already know,
with Elizabeth's marriage, I now have time for the true around the world that I have always planned for a well-earned vacation. I can think of no more enjoyable companion for that journey and above all, the journey together through life, than yourself, my dear Gay.

As you may have discovered
I am rather old-fashioned and sentimental in some respects. If you accept my humble self, will you wear a corsage of my favorite white roses and forget-me-nots. At Mark Vance's exhibition?

I am informed that the yacht will return us in time for that interesting event.

Trusting that you are enjoying your usual state of health,
Believe me, ever faithfully,
CHRISTIAN SCOTT."

When Gay slid into her seat in the coupe, Mark started away instantly. His eyes on the confection of traffic ahead, he asked lightly, "Inherit a fortune or get a proposal?"

Gay shot him a startled glance.
"Whatever made you ask that?"
He laughed. "We artists are psychic. If you know what I mean. We have a sixth-sense!"

He said no more, and Gay was glad of the friendly silence that fell between them. It lasted, for the most part, during the simple but excellent dinner in a small Italian restaurant tucked away, two blocks up, in what had once been a dignified residence on East Grand boulevard.

In the swift drive across the Belle Isle bridge, Mark broke the silence only to exclaim his appreciation of the beauty of the lights and shadows on the river. When he had parked the car at the head of the island for the necessary interval before their swim, and Gay, dreamy-eyed, was watching a huge freighter move placidly down the river, Mark broke into speech with startling unexpectedness.

He spoke of Charlotte. How he,
on the very bottom rung of the ladder of art, had met her at an exclusive Long Island house party, given by a college friend.
She was an heiress; a popular de-butante. He was an outsider, asked at the last moment, to fill in.

A case of love at first sight with the artist and the society girl, just like a romance from the 'Metropolitan' magazine. Mark made the quick, queer twist of his mouth that always made Gay smile, and rambled on. A whirlwind courtship, with plenty of family opposition, and a crazy boy-and-girl elopement. But had either of them ever regretted it, even for an instant? No, by the Lord!

Mark expelled a deep lungful of air. He'd felt the cock-eyed world it was one swell marriage. And why? The answer was plain as the nose on your face.

Because Charlotte played the game like the wonderful sport she was! She had married a struggling artist, so she had made her-

"Inherit a fortune or get a proposal?"

self over, from a rich man's daughter, and a society girl, into a struggling artist's wife! They'd practically starved, in Paris, the first two years. But never a whimper. Never any belly-aching.
She had faith in him—believed he was, well, a genius. He wasn't quite ass enough to think that himself. But it was up to him not to disappoint her altogether. And by the good Lord Harry, suddenly he realized she'd been giving excellent advice all along, pointing a way he'd been too dumb to follow.

He had one great big chance,
right here in Detroit, with its many powerful, self-made men and their ambitious wives. New York was overrun with portrait painters. He was going to do his stuff right here, and now. Make Charlotte proud of him, and all that.

"Don't you see, Gay," his eyes
were shining with earnestness,
"this marriage business is a fifty-fifty proposition. You can't go into it, expecting to take, and not give."

Gay drew a sharp breath, and gave him a side-long glance. Could he with that boasted sixth-sense of his, know that Christian's letter of proposal was tucked inside her blouse? Then she smiled at herself. How could Mark even dream that she was seriously considering marrying the Scott millions.

"There's only one way to be nappy though married," Mark began, his fist on the steering wheel. "That's to give your best to each other," his loud laughter started a bird in a nearby tree into a trill of sleepy protest. "I'm so glad Charlotte'll be home soon,
I can hardly see straight. And oh boy, won't she get a welcome!"

Gay, too, welcomed Charlotte's return with pleasure and relief.
She was genuinely glad to see Mrs.
Vance again, and relieved to turn over to her both the responsibility of Mark—who in his frenzy of work persisted in ignoring food
and sleep—and the task of beautifying the studio for the all-important afternoon.

Mark had asked Gay to wear the blue satin gown he had painted in the portrait, and on the afternoon of the exhibition when she dashed into her flat, she found that Jean,
before her own hurried exit, had spread out on the bed the blue dress, accessories, and an exquisite corsage of orchids from Charlotte and Mark Vance.

"An embarrassment of riches!"
Gay smiled to herself, with a glance at an open florist's box on the dresser, wherein reposed Christian's offering: the white roses and forget-me-nots.

Which to wear? She held Christian's flowers against her dress, shut her eyes with a shiver,
and replaced them in their silverstriped box.

"At any rate, I'll take them with me," she thought, and pinning on the corsage of orchids, with the silver-striped box under her arm,
ran down to the Vances' Cadillac,
which had been sent for her.
A feeling of shyness overcame
Gay, when she stood on the threshold of the studio. Already it was crowded—she saw faces she knew,
and many she had never seen before. A fashionable, discreetly chattering throng.

Though she had toiled with the Vances every free moment during the past week, to convert the bare working-studio into the stage-and-film presentment of such a place,
she felt a tingle of pleased astonishment at its impressiveness. This was the way a studio should look!

Most of the furnishings had been brought from the Vance apartment; chairs, couches, tables, Persian rugs on the walls and floor,
rich tapestries hung carelessly
about, precious objects that Charlotte had gathered on her pre-marriage trips to the Orient.
Curtains of gold gauze, and Italian green velvet shut out the afternoon sunlight, and the studio was illuminated only by tall candles in wrought iron candlesticks. And everywhere, in great quantities
were exquisite flowers.

Everywhere, too, on the walls, on easels, standards, even on chairs
and tables, were examples of Mark Vance's work. Excursions of Detroit scenes and buildings; charcoal drawings; magazine illustrations and covers; portrait studies of well-known New York and Detroit men and women. A few heads of Charlotte; not many, for Charlotte was a poor "sitter."

But the high-light of the whole exhibit, the spot which drew magnetically, irresistibly, that chattering, tea-drinking crowd of notables and art critics, was the portrait of Gay.

HELP
15 MILES OF KIDNEY TUBES
To Flush out Acids and Other
Poisonous Waste

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.
Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.
An excess of acids or poisons in your blood,
when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the beginning of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, lumbago, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness
under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.
Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Kidney Pills. They have helped millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 Miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

16 LETTERMEN ANSWER CALL OF COACH SCHMIDT ON OHIO GRIDIRON TODAY

MENTOR'S TASK IS NEW CENTER FOR BUCK TEAM

Gomer Jones' Position to Be Hardest to Fill; Season Opens Oct. 3

DOUBLE DRILLS ORDERED Pilot Has Experienced Man For Each Position

COLUMBUS, Sept. 10—(UP)—The "whip" Francis A. Schmidt will lead the next three months as he endeavors to drive the Ohio State football team to another Western Conference championship, cracked for the first time here today.

With the barrier for practice in the Big Ten lifted, Schmidt trotted out the 60 hopefuls he invited to return for the early practice.

Two practices were scheduled today and the double drills will continue until late September, when the classroom work will start. A single daily workout will then have to suffice.

Included among the 60 players Schmidt asked to return for the early drills were 16 lettermen from the squad which dropped but a single contest last year. The Buck coach has at least one veteran for every position and these will serve as a nucleus for the 1936 team.

The predominant problem which faced Schmidt and his aides as they started practice was the plugging of the gap left at center by the departure of Captain Gomer Jones. One veteran, Bob Miller, Cleveland, a 1935 reserve team member and four sophomores are candidates for the position.

If none of the six fulfill expectations, it is probable some veteran at another position will be switched to the pivot.

Ohio's opening game is here Oct. 3 with New York University.

Pitt to Rely on Light Line, Speedy Backfield

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 10—(UP)—The University of Pittsburgh's gridiron squad is being groomed for one of the most difficult schedules yet arranged for Coach Jock Sutherland to conquer.

Of the squad of more than 50, eighteen are lettermen, eight of whom were starting regulars last year. Thirteen others were on the squad last year and 21 are sophomores moving up to the varsity after one year on the freshman squad.

When Sutherland, his assistants and players walked on the practice field near the campus, they were well aware that they must get into shape swiftly for a successful season.

Within five weeks Sutherland must take his players to Columbus, Ohio, for a Saturday afternoon date with Ohio State.

The Pitt season opens Sept. 26 at Pitt Stadium against Ohio Wesleyan. Sutherland figures Wesleyan will be the proper opposition to prepare his team for the stiffer games to come. West Virginia University's Mountaineers follow the next Saturday with the important Ohio State game one week later.

After the Ohio State game comes Duquesne of Pittsburgh, which will put on the field one of its most formidable teams in years; the Irish of Notre Dame; Fordham; Penn State; Nebraska and then city-rival, Carnegie Tech.

The Pitt roster shows Sutherland will have a team of lettermen with speed and power in the backfield and a light, shifty line whose one weakness may be replacements.

There are three lettermen for every position, except center, where Donald Hensley, Huntington, W. Va., is the only one of five candidates who has worn a letter, and at fullback where two men have won their spurs.

The fullbacks are Frank Patrick junior, East Chicago, Ind., who was the regular last season, and William Stapulis, California, Pa. They divided honors last season, giving Pitt two mighty runners.

Bobby LaRue, under two seasons as a regular fullback, is back again and is the leading candidate for the ball-carrying job. John Wood of New Martinsville, W. Va., and Leo Malarkey, of McDonald, Pa., are the other halfbacks who won letters last season.

Quarterbacks Not Lacking The Panthers are well supplied with quarterbacks, with John Michelson, Ambridge, Pa., Robert McClure, Greenville, Pa., and Arnold Greene, Huntington, Pa., all lettermen, on hand. Michelson is considered the better ball carrier and probably the better field general. But McClure and Greene carry plenty of weight and the ideal for blocking—one of the main duties of Pitt quarterbacks.

The Panther wall will have plenty of speed and experience with Frank Souchak, Berwick, Pa., end; tackles, Tony Matiss, Endicott, N. Y., and Averell Daniel, Pittsburgh, and guards, William Glassford, Lancaster, Ohio, and Dante Dalle Tezze, Jeannette, Pa., bearing the brunt of the work.

Souchak and Dalle Tezze are juniors who starred defensively last year.

If there are any weak points it will be at center and in reserve strength.

ZANESVILLE GREYS NEED SINGLE GAME FOR TITLE
DAYTON, Sept. 10—(UP)—The Zanesville Greys today needed only one more victory to give them the second half championship in the Mid-Atlantic league and to make a play-off for the season's title necessary.

Zanesville turned back Dayton 8 to 6 here last night in the first contest of a three game series to decide the second half title. The teams ended the regular session in a deadlock.

About This And That In Many Sports

White, Mussun Return

Dean White, who made a letter his sophomore year in the backfield for Ohio Wesleyan then dropped out of school for a year, has returned to the Bishop squad and is expected to help George Gauthier's crew through the toughest schedule it has undertaken in several years. Included in the Wesleyan series of tests are Pittsburgh and Rutgers, two of the east's big teams. White is a halfback, a good blocker and kicker. At the same time Gauthier announced he has returned, he reported Bill Mussun, 210-pound tackle from Cleveland, has rejoined the squad after a lapse of three years.

Go West, Young Men

John Griffith and Billy Kellstadt, two of the boys about town, left Thursday for California where they will visit relatives of Kellstadt and endeavor to obtain jobs. Griffith might enroll in a western school.

Casey Scores Thirty

Frank Casey, former Pickaway Country Club golf professional, who foresook the pasture game to run a bunch of bowling alleys, can still smack the white pellet. Playing at a Snow Hill course, Wilmington, during the week-end, he established a course record with a 30 on nine holes. On the other nine he tallied 36 for a 66 total. The previous 9-hole record was 31—Casey parred Nos. 1, 5, 7, 8 and 9 and birdied 2, 3, 4, 6.

Owens vs. Greyhound?

Promoters at the Bainbridge dog track near Akron seek to pit Jesse Owens, the Ohio State sprinter and hero of the recent Olympic games, against "Brown Sugar," champion greyhound. The race would be a handicap affair, with "Brown Sugar" running 165 yards around one turn and Jesse doing 100 yards on a straightaway. Definite determination of Owens' professional plans some time this month will decide whether the race will be held.

No Cantonites

Few Ohio high schools in recent seasons have turned out as many outstanding football stars as Canton McKinley, yet the current Ohio State roster of 60 gridders doesn't contain a player from the institution.

YANKEES CLINCH LEAGUE'S TITLE AT RECORD DATE

CLEVELAND, Sept. 10—(UP)—The New York Yankees went into the third and last game of their series with the Indians today without a thing to worry them between now and the World Series opening. They held the American league pennant, and at the earliest date it ever had been won.

After defeating Cleveland, 11-3 for the championship, they came back in the second game yesterday to win again, 12-9, thus stretching their lead over the second-place White Sox to an even 18 and dashing the Indians down to an undisputed fifth.

It was the eighth time in 16 years that the Yanks have run the flag up their mast, and the mathematical clinch was achieved four days earlier than even the great 1927 team could do it.

The back-slapping still was going on between games in the New York dressing room when Manager Joe McCarthy was asked who would open on the mound against the National league champs. Marse Joe made no commitment, but indicated he had a preference for Charley Ruffing, the right-hander with 18 victories this season.

Helen Jepson Signs for Prima Donna Role in Reorganized "Show Boat", on Air Tonight

BLONDE SOPRANO REPLACES ROSS ON FAMED HOUR

Honey Dean, Sam Hearn and Others to Appear With Molasses 'n' January

The Show Boat, which has been made famous by Lanny Ross, has revised its lineup of stars with Helen Jepson, blonde soprano of the Metropolitan Grand Opera, to take the prima donna role. Miss Jepson will be heard first on the Show Boat hour this evening at 7 o'clock over the NBC system.

Others included in the cast of the new show are Honey Dean, blues singer; Sam Hearn, comedian; Ross Graham, bass-baritone; Molasses 'n' January, and Al Goodman and his orchestra with the Modern Choir.

OAKIE BURNS GUEST

Last Spring Bing Crosby hired Jack Oakie to heckle him on the radio so that there wouldn't be too much "sweetness and light" in the program. Now Bob Burns has persuaded Jack to return again to the Music Hall tonight, and wherever Oakie goes there's bound to be some heckling.

Functioning as "Keeper of the Music Hall" during Bing's vacation, Bob will also present Gienda

Farrell, of the movies; Susanne Fisher, of the Metropolitan Opera Company; and Deane Janis, popular singer, during the broadcast over an NBC red network at 9 p. m. (EST).

Entertainment ranges from Oakie heckling to several difficult items as a human interest interview with Miss Farrell; blues songs by Deane Janis; a guitar solo by Bob Burns and some of the same gentleman's well known yarns.

NEWS AND NOTES

Frances Langford has leased a new home in Beverly Hills, with a swimming pool 'n' everything. . . . Bob Burns, turned down by the movies before he started playing his bazooka on the radio, has just signed with Paramount for three pictures a year at $60,000 per picture, and a fourth picture each year at another studio at $75,000. . . . Amos 'n' Andy, who transferred their activities to the moving picture state, have just started their eighth year of NBC broadcasting. They have given more than 2,410 individual broadcasts and have written more than 18,210 pages of script. . . . After the first nine weeks of broadcasting from Hollywood, Eddie Cantor plans to take his troupe to New York. His show starts September 20. . . . Raymond Paige is a homebody. He and the wife have a home in Hollywood Hills and stay there most of the time. His recreation is sailing his boat, but he doesn't throw any parties on board. . . . Rupert Hughes, the author and m.c. of the smoke program, browses among his books in his Beverly Hills home most of the time. When he does emerge from his lair it usually is to mingle with novelists and screen writers. . . . Gertrude Niesen has purchased a home in the heart of Hollywood. She frequents the Club Seville and Trocadero with close friends, usually non-professionals. . . . Cecil B. de Mille is never seen at night spots. He's too busy with his radio and screen work. . . . Dick Powell gets about a bit, usually in the company of Joan Blondell. They are habitués of the Coconut Grove and never talk shop with any outsiders.
